Upon a sign in Richmond the following words appear [illegible]: "President's Policy—Whisky, Porter, Ale and Cigars."

The inmates of the Connecticut State Prison are to have a concert and drama, the expense of the latter to be defrayed by a gentleman of Pawtucket.

A leading English journal asserts that "nine out of ten intelligent men in every country of Europe miscalculated as to the issue of the American war."

Cleveland has been offered a park of two hundred and fifty acres, provided the city will expend fifty thousand dollars a year on it for the next ten years.

A Danville (N. J.) lady who got divorced from her husband and married another man, has just eloped from him, running away with her first husband.

A bill posted on the walls of a country village announces that "a lecture will be delivered in the open air, and a collection made at the door to defray expenses."

"What does your husband deal in, marm?" "He deals in cards chiefly, sir." "Well, the de'il will be apt to get him when the last trump has been played."

We find the following political argument in the Parkersburg Times: "Vote for General Kearns for Mayor, who was ten years old before he either wore pants or shoes."

A Morayshire farmer recently sent the following message to the lady of his love: "Tell her," he said, "that gin she doesna' ha'e me, I winna hae mysel, but I'll pine awa'."

An Illinois editor speaking of a rogue who lives in his vicinity, says: "The rascal has broken every bank and jail and Sabbath we have had in this county for the last five years."

Marion Harland's Sunny Bank, published by Sheldon & Co., may be set down as one of the most successful books of the season. It has already reached the twelfth thousand.

The evidence given in regard to one of the recent colliery explosions in England, show that the men were in the habit of smoking in the pit and they carried duplicate keys, by means of which they could open the safety lamp.

A miserly old farmer, who had lost one of his best hands in the midst of hay making, remarked to the sexton, as he was filling up the grave: "It's a sad thing to lose a good mower at a time like this, but, after all, poor Tom was a great eater."

Hon. Roscoe Conkling, United States Senator elect, is a man of muscular as well as mental talent. He is, with the exception, perhaps, of Gen. Rousseau, the first specimen of the physical man in the present Congress. He is several inches over six feet in hight, with proportionate build.

The following is the opening sentence of a French review of the [illegible]: "England lives entirely upon imported ideas. These, originally derived from Germany, became clarified and rendered intelligible in France and are finally accepted in England, or even promulgated there as new."

The Nashville Banner says: "A few nights since five chickens in transitu over the Louisville and Nashville railroad were found to be missing, and upon search being made they were found roosted upon the iron connecting the brakes of one of the cars in which position they had ridden a distance of 68 miles."

Charles Stattman, of Natchez, has sent a side saddle to the Paris Exposition. The seat, knee piece, inside of the horns and stirrup are lined with a beautiful skin from a leopard wildcat, killed in Mississippi. The facing and bindings are made of the skin of a rattlesnake killed in the same State.

Recent advices from Ecuador state that upon the application from our Minister Hon. Wm. T. Coggeshall, the Government has purchased cemetery grounds at Quito for the burial of Americans and other foreigners not of Catholic faith. Mr. Coggeshall, an American, was the first person interred in the grounds.

Several months since the legislature of Kentucky passed a resolution giving to each of the survivors from that State, of Perry's victory on Lake Erie, a gold medal. But four persons can be found who can claim these medals and their names are Wm. T. Taliaferro, James Artis, John Norris and John Tucker.

An officer in the army in the Indian country sends a letter to a friend in Lockport, which contains the following cheerful passage: "I would send you a lock of my hair, but I fear it would be a fraud upon the savages of this vicinity. There is a fair prospect that one of the noble red men will be my barber before spring."

The English papers are chronicling a superabundance of apples this year. Thirty miles from London they are selling at three pence (little more than five cents) per bushel, and in many orchards whole droves of pigs may be seen fairly turned loose to eat up the fruit. And yet one cannot buy a single apple in London under two cents.

An Englishman just across, got into an omnibus in New York and was surprised at not seeing a conductor to take his fare. He was more surprised, however, when a lady handed him ten cents with which to pay for her. Mr. Bull looked at the money, then at the lady and handed it back, and said: "I am exceedingly obliged to you, Madam, but really I am in no immediate want of charity."

A very elegant hose carriage is now being built under the direction of the New York Volunteer Firemen's Association, which is intended as a present to the Columbia (S. C.) Fire Department, who some weeks since made an appeal through the columns of the New York papers for fire apparatus. It is said that the same will cost $4,000 and be finished early in March. A committee of the Association intend to take the carriage on to its destination, accompanied by a picked body of gentlemen who were once members of the New York Volunteer Fire Department.

A gentleman of Boston, entertaining some friends a short time ago at the Music Hall with a sight of the great organ and other curiosities of the place, suddenly became aware of a series of nudges in his back and turning, became also aware of a solemn countryman evidently of an inquiring mind, who, indicating the statue of Beethoven with an interrogating finger, asked in the unmistakable patois of New England: "Is that statoo gilt?" "No sir, bronze," was the response. "Bronze, hey? Must cost considerable. Who is it a statoo of?" "Beethoven," said the gentleman, beginning to be amused. "B. Thovin, hey?" and then reflectively with the impression of the statue of B. Franklin fresh in his mind—"Was he a Bostin man?"

A negro named Ephe, who was a regular attendant at church, was proud of his Bible learning. He was sawing wood one day, while his master's son, a lad of about twelve years, was looking on, and now and then asking questions. "Which of the Apostles do you like best?" asked Ephe. "Well I don't know," drawled the boy. "I likes Samson," said Ephe, "he was so strong, and piled up dem wicked folks so." "Why Ephe," replied the boy, "Samson wasn't one of the Apostles." Ephe put down his saw, and looked at the youngster a moment in amazement, and then asked him with an air of triumph: "Look here white boy, how old am you?" "Twelve," replied the boy. "Well, I se forty, now, who ought to know best? I ax you dat!"

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 8.

Congressional

WASHINGTON, March 8.—In the Senate the Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of War covering [illegible] from General Sherman respecting the safety of travel overland.

Howe [illegible] presented a resolution from the Wisconsin legislature instructing the Senators from that State to vote [illegible] the Northern [illegible]. Referred.

Wilson of Mass. [illegible] a bill granting [illegible] public schools [illegible] District of Columbia.

Henderson [illegible] offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War [illegible] whether the [illegible] expeditions have been [illegible] against the Indians on our western frontiers, and if so what orders [illegible] against [illegible].

The bill for the construction of a ship canal [illegible] was referred to the [illegible] Committee.

A bill remanding Alexandria to the District of Columbia was referred to the Judiciary Committee. Adjourned.

In the House, Woods of New York asked leave to offer the following:

Resolved, That this House extends sympathy to the people of Ireland in their present struggle for constitutional liberty and [illegible] ... institutions in America the United States shall foster, promote and encourage republican institutions in Europe.

The rules were suspended by 103 to 13. The previous question was called but not seconded, the vote standing ayes 43, noes 30. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs when appointed.

Ingersoll of Ill. moved to suspend the rules to enable him to introduce a resolution instructing [illegible] to apply the surplus funds in the treasury, amounting to over $70,000,000 to the redemption of the compound interest notes. The vote resulted ayes 60, noes 56. Two-thirds not voting in the affirmative the rules were not suspended.

Stevens of Pennsylvania moved to suspend the rules so that he might introduce a resolution appointing a Committee of Fifteen on Reconstruction. Rejected.

The House adjourned.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Senate is disposed to remain in session till the expiration of the 10 days allotted the President under the tenure of office bill to send in nominations and then adjourn till October or perhaps December. A corresponding sentiment is growing in the House. The only danger of the defeat of this plan is that if the final adjournment is postponed a greater amount of business will be inaugurated, and it will be more difficult to fix a time of adjournment.

The Tribune's special says the Impeachment Committee have examined a large number of witnesses to ascertain whether there is an organized conspiracy on the part of the people to resist the attempt of Congress to impeach the President. No evidence on that point has been elicited.

The President is busy with the new appointments, generally taking Republican nominations. It is said he does not favor the nomination of Sickles, Schofield, Sheridan and Thomas, but prefers Meade and Hancock as two of the military commanders. Ord doubtless will be another of his choice.

Mr. Wilson's bill before the Senate provides who shall control the preliminary elections. It will probably pass immediately.

The Cabinet yesterday had before them the question of appointment of military commanders and the adoption of rules for their action. Grant was consulted, but has not undertaken to advise the Administration. Sickles is ineligible because he is only a colonel in the regular army.

The Republican paper of New Orleans endorsed by Senators and Representatives has been selected by the clerk of the House as the official organ of the Government to advertise under the act of March 2d.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Times' special says a delegation of prominent Virginians arrived yesterday for an interview with the President and the Attorney General, desiring the latter's decision authorizing military commanders to [illegible] of the election of delegates under the reconstruction act. Judges Ould and Crump, and other well known opponents of the convention movement are among the delegates. Mr. Ould made a speech in the Virginia Senate on Wednesday denouncing the supporters of the convention as traitors to the South. He now with his colleagues demands of the President the appointment of military commanders who will favor his schemes. Gentlemen just from Richmond say the most effective argument brought in favor of the convention proposition was a scheme to get possession of the appointment of judges of elections.

Appropriations for the Pacific Coast

NEW YORK, March 8.—Among the items in the appropriation bills of the last Congress were the following for the Pacific Coast.

For the repair of the Navy Yard at Mare Island $60,000, Gas house, cisterns, etc., $7,257, for the building of a naval hospital, $20,000, for gathering statistics of mines, $15,000, for pay of the Surveyor General of California and his clerks $14,000, for his rent, etc., $5,000, for the Surveyor General and clerks of Nevada, $7,000, for his rent, etc., $2,000, for the Surveyor General and clerks in Oregon, $6,500, for Surveyor General and clerks in Washington Territory, $4,600, for surveying Public Lands in Nevada, $20,000, for employees of the Mint at San Francisco, $25,950, for clerks and additional clerks for the Assistant Treasurer at San Francisco, $64,500, for a Light House at Santa Cruz $2,000, for a fog signal at Point Conception, $4,000, for the survey of the boundary between California and Oregon, $15,647, for a survey of the boundary between Idaho and Oregon, $50,000, for Fort Point $60,000, for Lime Point $50,000, for the Indians of California $75,000, for incidental expenses, $7,500, for the Indians of Oregon and Washington Territory, $50,000, for incidentals, $25,000, for incidental Indian service in Utah, $15,000, for a deficiency in Utah, $12,000, for removing the Indians from Uintah valley, $15,000.

The Indians on the Plains

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—Denver papers say that the Indians are assuming a hostile attitude in the neighborhood of Fort Dodge on the Arkansas river. New Mexican advices also say that Indian hostilities have taken a new start in the southern part of the Territory, and the militia have been ordered under arms.

Trade Report

NEW YORK, March 8.—The trade is sluggish for the season. Markets unsettled by continued gold fluctuations. Money is working close under the currency contraction and the impeachment agitation. The minimum rate is 7 per cent. Government securities are depressed. Dry goods a little more active. Woolens generally firm under the tariff. Cottons irregular under the decline of raw material. Gold imports largely below those of last year.

California wheat steady at $13 75 to $15 [illegible]. Canada barley is sold at $1 25 to $1 35. California dry hides closed at 18 to 18½c. Canned goods are in particular demand. Oysters and lobsters at full prices. Refined petroleum in barrels quoted at 35 to 37c. Pork closed firm; new mess at $23 15; prime at $17 to $22 25. Lard [illegible] dull [illegible]. Bacon [illegible] heavy—[illegible]. [illegible] at 10 to 10½c. Whisky is quoted at 30 to 35c. Tallow closed quiet at 11¼c to 11½c. California wool [illegible] firm. Unwashed and free of burrs is held at [illegible]. Japan teas are declining. Freights to California dull and declining. Measurement goods are 30 to 35; weight goods $3 and $4. Oil $50 and $60. Pork $25.

Seven ships are on the berth for California. The Frank [illegible], Lancaster and Swallow will get away this week.

Gen. Sherman's Report on Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Secretary of War has transmitted to the Senate a copy of Gen. Sherman's report on the subject of protecting trains on the Overland route, with copies of general orders issued by the Department last year for the regulation of travel from the plains. He says these orders, with some modification, have been given the present year. Under them a vast amount of travel has been [illegible] and a great number of people last year passed safely [illegible]. [illegible] the principal routes: First from Minnesota to Montana by Forts Abercrombie [illegible]; the [illegible] river, with the new [illegible] between Wadsworth and [illegible]; the great [illegible] route by which about 90 per cent of the travel to Montana, Utah, California and Colorado has hitherto gone. [illegible] protection to be given to [illegible] the line from Virginia City to Laramie via [illegible] Kearney. Third, Smoky Hill route to Denver [illegible]. Fourth, [illegible] Arkansas route from Kansas to Arkansas via Forts [illegible] Larned, Dodge, [illegible], Fort Union and New Mexico. He proposes to leave the [illegible] to judgment as to strength of trains [illegible]. [illegible] required the military organization of all trains to the number of at least thirty men and twenty wagons. All travelers will be held to a strict responsibility for the faithful observance of the regulations laid down and treaties with Indians [illegible] through which country they pass.

Regulations for Goods in Bond.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The revised bonded warehouse regulations require goods which are to be transported in bond, to be transferred from the [illegible] under supervision of an officer and require an officer to accompany any articles from the [illegible] to place [illegible]. [illegible] is reduced to thirty days, and for producing proof of delivery to fifteen days. The time for completing [illegible] is reduced to ten days. In all cases application for withdrawal for rectifying must be made by a duly commissioned rectifier, who must be a party to the bond.

A private dispatch received in this city says that gold opened this morning at 134½.

New Telegraph Cable.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Herald understands that a negotiation has for some time past been in fact between Napoleon and certain parties in this country, with the [illegible] of the Government for a cable between Brest and New York. The Herald says it has the best authority for believing that the Emperor is giving all possible aid toward [illegible] capitalists of France [illegible] the under[illegible] connection with such New Yorkers as Stewart, Astor, Vanderbilt, Roberts and others.

Cleared for San Francisco ship Swallow.

Irish Affairs

It is supposed that a Fenian leader has been arrested in Lincoln.

LIVERPOOL, March 6.—It is stated on [illegible] received by the Government, [illegible] of Fenians [illegible] were repulsed. One of the attacking force supposed to be an American [illegible].

LONDON, March 6.—The Fenians have torn up the railroad and [illegible] between Cork and Dublin [illegible]. The Government feels no alarm at the aspect of affairs as stringent measures have been taken to suppress attempts at insurrection. There have been as yet no serious outrages committed on either persons or property of private subjects. The rebels appear in a quiet state of strict military discipline. At four o'clock this evening reports were received at the government headquarters stating that all was quiet.

LONDON, March 6—Evening.—The Fenian excitement in Ireland has been renewed and is increasing. The arming of Irishmen near Dublin has been [illegible] by the troops. The telegraph has been cut in several parts of the country.

In the House of Commons Lord Naas, Secretary of Ireland, stated to-day that the Fenian force around Dublin are supposed to number from one to four thousand men.

DUBLIN, March 7.—All is quiet in this city to day. Reports from Cork, Limerick and Waterford represent no apparent disturbance.

LONDON, March 8.—In this city several Irish and English journals publish a proclamation purporting to come from the Irish Republic. It declares that after ages of outrages and vain appeals to reason and justice, they have at last resolved to appeal to arms to rescue themselves from serfdom and establish a National Union for public safety and political freedom and to bring about a complete separation of Church and State. As Republicans they appeal to freemen throughout the world for sympathy and support.

DUBLIN, March 8.—A heavy storm passed in this vicinity night before last. The insurgents who took refuge in the mountains are reported to be suffering severely from cold and exposure.

Donahue, the leader of the Fenians in the fight at Tallaght, is dead. Three of his companions are also dead.

The roads running into Waterford are torn up. A large quantity of ammunition and material for producing Greek fire have been seized by the soldiers and police in various parts of the country. Troops are being rapidly dispatched to Ireland from all available points.

LONDON, March 8.—Dispatches from Dublin, Cork and other parts of Ireland received during the day give the following intelligence:

A body of Fenians, 1,500 strong, are reported threatening Tipperary. The troops had a battle with the insurgent troops near Kilmallock, Limerick county, and defeated them, killing and wounding several and taking thirty prisoners. Among the latter was the Fenian General Lance. A force of rebels 300 strong, was also beaten by the soldiers at Clonmel. Several were killed and 18 prisoners were taken. A quantity of arms were captured. The Fenians stripped a number of houses of guns and other weapons. Armed bands are roaming through Limerick, Clare and Tipperary counties and have frequent conflicts with the police. Incendiary fires are frequent in the city and county of Limerick. A correspondent of the London Times says that Ireland is filled with Americans, and argues that a severe punishment should be inflicted in their case, but adds that it is very difficult to apprehend them, for the people, though they give them no aid, refuse to betray them. He concludes by saying that the present rising is considered a failure.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Sacramento sailed for Panama at eleven o'clock this morning with about two hundred passengers and $717,632 62 in treasure.

Judge Pratt, yesterday rendered judgment in favor of Pauline C. Fowler and against the city of Sacramento for $40,100 64. The suit was brought to recover on twenty-five levee bonds, of $1,000 each, and eighteen coupons, the principal and interest amounting to the sum for which judgment was rendered.

Assessor Gunn has fixed the rates of currency for income taxes during the present year at 70 cents, at which rates the gold returns will be reduced to a greenback basis.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at 134 and sterling at 108⅜@108¾. Legal tenders are quiet at 74½ buying and 75 selling. To-day's despatches quote gold at 134¼.

The brig Percy Edwards, which arrived this morning in the short passage of 115 days from Boston is destined for the Pacific coast trade. She is owned by her commander, Captain Josselyn, and was recently built at the East after a very sharp model. This is her first trip, which we believe was very satisfactory.

The letter bag for Hong Kong, per Buena Vista will close at the office of Macondray & Co., on Wednesday next at five o'clock P. M.

The steamer Active cleared to-day for Victoria, carrying a miscellaneous cargo valued at $32,155.

ICE.—The Ice Manufacturing Company at Shreveport, Louisiana, declared, last season, a dividend of eighteen per cent. Commenting on this the Bulletin says:

"If the manufacture of ice in a hot country can be made profitable by inexperienced men, it is reasonable to suppose that the business could be carried on in a cool country after some experience had been gained, with very satisfactory results on the capital invested.

The ice consumed in San Francisco is brought from the Russian possessions, a distance of 1,500 miles or more, at great expense, and of course it must be sold at a round rate to yield a profit to those engaged in the business.

Experiments have been made in Paris on a large scale for the production of ice by artificial means. But the cheapest method did not produce ice at less than 5½ cents per pound. In some experiments made in London in 1863, by Mr. [illegible] of Austria, an engine of 16 horse power produced from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds of ice per day. By a more recent machine invented and put in operation in New Orleans, a block of ice weighing 60 pounds was produced by the labor of two men in two hours. The last mentioned machine is very simple, consisting principally of one powerful air pump for compressing air, attached to a walking beam, and a small jet pump. The machines used by the company at Shreveport are not described.

The material for ice is certainly cheap enough. A spring of water, a brook, or an artesian well would furnish fluid enough, if the right sort of a freezing machine can be found. If some ingenious experimenter can devise a plan to produce ice of good quality and at less price than the Sitka article is sold, his fortune would be made. Good home-made ice would not go a begging, and if sold cheap enough, a vast amount of Spring Valley water would be turned up to the great comfort of consumers."

HOW LINSEED OIL IS MADE.—From the screen the seeds pass down to the floor below, in doing which they run between a couple of iron rollers that crush them, are put into a hopper in which is continually revolving two large grindstone shaped stones, six and a half feet in diameter, and weighing about six thousand pounds, when they undergo a process called mulling. From this they go into iron basins and are heated by steam, after which they are taken out, placed in woolen bags, which are put between a couple of copper plates called mats and then go to press. The presses contain thirty thousand pounds of iron, and the pressure amounts to about four hundred tons on each one, the natural consequence being that the residue of the seed comes out in cakes as dry as a brick and as hard as a board. The oil runs into a tank below, and the portion of the seeds taken out of the presses is neatly packed in strong bags for shipment to where it may be used for stock feed.

COLUMBUS.—A letter from Madrid says: "The young and accomplished Christopher Columbus, descendant of the great discoverer, has taken possession of his father's estates and title of Duke of Veragua. Don Pedro Columbus, or as they called him in Spain, Don Pedro Colon, the father of Christopher, died four days ago. He was the most famous cattle grower in Spain and took such special care of his breed of fighting bulls, that whenever the handbills announced that Veragua bulls were to be brought to the bull fight circus, the receipts of the circus manager were sure to be enormous."

LONDON, March 9.—The funeral of Artemus Ward took place to-day. His remains were buried in Kensal Green, and were followed to the grave by a great number of friends.

LONDON, March 9—Evening.—It is stated that the five powers of Europe have united in urging upon the Ottoman Government the immediate enforcement of the provisions of the treaty of 1856 and the granting of liberal concessions to the Christian subjects.

The reorganization of the Derby Government is completed. The Duke of Marlborough becomes Lord President of the Council in the place of the Duke of Buckingham, who is appointed Colonial Secretary, and the Duke of Richmond will take the Board of Trade.

LONDON, March 9.—Dispatches from Ireland to day say that tranquility is restored throughout the Province of Leinster. There has been no recent disturbance in that county or Kerry, the scene of the abortive outbreak last month.

DUBLIN, March 9.—A dispatch from Waterford states that the Gaultee mountains on the borders of Tipperary and Cork counties, are swarming with Fenians. It is feared that an attack will be made on the town, the inhabitants of which are disaffected and are strongly disposed to help them.

LONDON, March 9, P. M.—Official dispatches from Ireland say that loads of arms have been discovered and seized by the military, and that the first accounts [illegible] the reports that the rising of the Irish has failed to be general.

Dispatches from Dublin state that small bands of Fenians are patrolling the counties of Cork, Waterford, Tipperary and Limerick, and are pressing the people in their ranks and committing robberies everywhere. The taverns in the city of Cork will be closed every evening at dusk. Stephens is still in Paris.

DUBLIN, March 9, Evening.—A dispatch from Waterford reports that the Fenians appeared in force at Devil's Bit mountain, county of Tipperary. Troops with artillery had been sent to dislodge them. The result is unknown. The insurgents muster in strong force, particularly in the county of Tipperary. No bands have yet appeared in the county of Wicklow. Reports from Drogheda say that there is no further disturbance there up to this hour. Twelve of the foremost leaders have been captured.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The roads across the Sierra Nevadas being finally opened for travel, the accumulation of bullion for the last three weeks in the State of Nevada has commenced to arrive in this city. The quantity is enormous, amounting to a great many tons. A military escort has been detached for the purpose of protecting the treasure during the passage across the mountains.

Meetings of those opposed to the engaging of Chinese in this State were held last evening in several wards of this city for the purpose of organizing a district anti-Coolie Association.

The fair, or Industrial Exhibition, proposed to be held by the Mechanics' Institute this year, is meeting with great favor with mechanics and manufacturers in this city. [illegible]

H. W. [illegible] has brought suit against the [illegible] Gold & Silver Mining Company for services rendered as President, amounting to nearly $40,000.

CARSON, March 9.—The question of an extra session of the Legislature being called, is agitating the minds of members and people. [illegible]

The case of ex-Attorney-General Nourse vs. Robert M. Clarke, present incumbent of that office, was before the Supreme Court to-day. Plaintiff claims that Clarke is ineligible to the office as his resignation as [illegible] District Attorney had not been acted upon at the time of his election. After argument by plaintiff, the case was continued till Monday.

THE PHIL. KEARNEY MASSACRE.—A correspondent of the New York Times writes from Fort Laramie concerning the Fort Phil Kearney massacre:

"In regard to Colonel Carrington I give only what is common talk, and every one talks in the same way. I saw the dispatch to General Grant and to General Cooke concerning the late massacre. One would think from reading it that Carrington was present at the slaughter, that he had a big fight, and that vast numbers of Indians were killed. The truth is, Colonel Carrington was in his quarters, and it was no fight at all—an ambuscade and a fearful slaughter, and not a soul lived to tell the story of the disaster, nothing was known of the real state of the case until some party went out to see what had been doing, and discovered the mangled bodies of the command of Col. Fetterman."

Judge Busteed, of the United States District Court of Alabama, is now in Washington, called here for the purpose of protecting John Hardy, United States Marshal of that State, from being removed by Andrew Johnson, for his loyalty to the policy of the accidental Executive. Hardy signed a call for a Republican meeting and this awakened the ire of his enemies who soon trumped up sufficient charges to induce decapitation. Happily, the Senate is in session, and it is supposed that under Judge Busteed's earnest appeal that body will refuse to assist in the removal of this faithful Southern Unionist.

GENERAL THOMAS.—The Cincinnati Commercial comes out for Gen. Thomas as the next President. It concludes a long editorial article eulogistic of his military services and personal character in these words: "Virginia is the mother of Presidents, and we sometimes get a good article from that State. Thomas, a native of Virginia, is not among her degenerate sons. He is one of the good old stock of Virginians, whose love of country included all the States and his principles unperverted by a vicious and vulgar provincialism like his reputation, are eminently national."

Reconstruction in North Carolina

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 28.—Seegin introduced in the Lower House, to day a resolution expressing willingness to accept and adopt in faith the proposed plan of Congress for a reconstruction of the Southern States. The resolution created much excitement and discussion, and was finally referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

MONDAY MORNING MARCH 11 1867

Wallace's Reports of the Supreme Court of the United States

The January number of the American Law Review, published at Boston by Little & Brown contains a judicious and timely criticism upon Wallace's Reports.

John William Wallace succeeded Black as reporter of the Supreme Court of the United States at the term commencing in December, 1863 In the meantime he has prepared and published three volumes of reports and certainly they are original specimens of reporting. The article in the Review handles Mr Wallace and his work not unkindly but yet without gloves

The first objection to the Reports is their verbosity Every person who has had occasion to examine them however cursorily must have been struck with their wordy character—and not only that but the unprofessional and high flying terms in which they abound. Another marked feature of these volumes is the exaltation of the Reporter and his function above the Court and the case On this latter point the Review says

> In merely turning over his pages, we cannot fail to observe how very much we have of the Reporter and how little of the court In Clicquot's Champagne for instance, we have eleven pages of statement of the case, and six only of opinion of the court In the case of the Bermuda, the facts occupy twenty one pages and the opinion seventeen In Burr vs. Duryee, nineteen pages and nine pictures are devoted to the statement of the case The arguments are reported in fifteen pages with twelve cuts, and twelve pages are allotted to the court This list might be largely increased but these instances will suffice It is needless to tell the reader that this prolixity is unnecessary * * *. No one who practices law needs to be reminded of the exceeding importance of conciseness in reporting. As a mere matter of economy, the profession have a right to demand that no superfluous matter should swell the costly volumes which are indispensable to them in their business To acquire and keep up such a library as every man in full practice needs, is no light pecuniary burden It is something of an imposition upon the profession to fill a book, which they can ill do without, with needless facts of no interest, and with wood cuts in a low style of art. In reporting the arguments, Mr Wallace is as prodigal as he is in his statements of the facts In many of the causes he seems to have copied the briefs verbatim

The case of Burr vs. Duryee, referred to by the Review, concerned the infringement of a patent for some process in hat making In the statement of the case, the Reporter volunteers a history of the art of hat making from the earliest dawn of civilization down to a time within the memory of the present generation The "wood cuts in a low style of art" are devoted to a representation of the various processes and operations which occur during the progress of converting peltries into plugs for the human head These matters being exhibited before the court on the argument the Reporter characterizes it as an interesting "clinical" (bed side) treatment of the case

In the case of the Bermuda, a vessel condemned for blockade running, it appeared that there were persons on board, known to be residents of South Carolina, who were registered as ordinary seamen under assumed names The Review, with good reason, makes merry over Mr Wallace's statement of this simple fact, calling it a "flight"—to which we might add—of a flunkey Here it is, word for word "So among the persons that embarked on the Bermuda at Liverpool, were certain gentleman residents of Charleston, but perfectly well known in certain circles of gentility and pleasure, both North and South, before the rebellion began Among these, as was noted by counsel was the late amiable Mr. John Julius Pringle, a gentleman of education and fortune, resident in South Carolina during the winter, but at Newport, Rhode Island, in summer, and in that agreeable resort of taste and fashion, by many pleasingly and with regrets remembered."

This out of the way and uncalled for eulogy on "the late amiable Mr John Julius Pringle resident of South Carolina during the winter, but at Newport, Rhode Island in summer," is in the highest style of the Jenkins art, but when foisted into a volume of the reports of the Supreme Court of the United States, as the Review says, "it is simply impertinent and silly"

The case of Blackburn vs Crawfords involved the legitimacy of certain children The statement of the facts in this case, is also cited by the Review, as an instance of how Mr Wallace clutches at an opportunity "to display his rhetoric," to the utter confusion of the business in hand. Instead of stating the simple facts upon which the question of marriage or no marriage arose, Mr Wallace beats the air with irrevelent conjectures and interrogatories as follows "This was a narrative sufficiently touching and quite circumstantial, no doubt. But was it true? Was the case one of marriage solemnized in form, and kept a secret for five and twenty years, a romance; perhaps, discovered only by relatives not enriched, to be reality, perhaps a mesalliance simply? Or was it one of those less regular relations,—affairs, mutato nomine, of every day, and out of which men elaborate such infinite vexation for themselves and others from the pure elements of the affections —misdirected?"

Gratiano spoke "an infinite deal of nothing," but our eccentric Reporter, in his analysis of the secret springs of this "touching narrative," makes a "much ado about nothing"

The next case we select is, The City vs Babcock. In this case two simple questions were decided by the Court, namely, that the Court would not decide a question not arising upon the record, and that where a fact had been found by a jury, the Court would not question it or go behind it. These are elementary propositions and scarcely worth reporting at all, but if reported, needed only to be accompanied by a statement of the facts on which they arose Instead of this, the case is introduced by the following graphic account of how, when and where a young lady by the unpoetic name of Babcock met with a painful accident, but upon what part of her body we know not

> "Among the festal anniversaries of the city of Providence R I, is that known as Commencement Day" Upon this occasion Brown University gives its degrees, and citizens and strangers throng the town Upon the anniversary of 1859 Miss Babcock, of Connecticut, visited Providence and was participating in the spectacle, A procession was passing through one of the streets in a central part of the city, and Miss Babcock who was walking in the same street then filled with people, fell through an opening in the pavement which gave entrance to a cellar below, whereby she was severely injured"

The Review says that this is what Sir Walter Scott would have called the 'big bow wow style" and adds—"the late Mr James" (the solitary horseman James) "could hardly have done this better We are sorry for Miss Babcock, of Connecticut and wonder whether she was a blonde or a brunette. That so graceful an introduction should lead only to such trivial and uninstructive law, is an accident which Mr Wallace of course, could not help'

The puerile particularity with which we are informed that Miss Babcock was walking on that fatal festal day in a street in the central part of the city of Providence, R I, through which street a procession was then passing —the same being then filled with people, and how exactly in point of time and place, coincident with all these important facts Miss Babcock then and there fell through an opening in the pavement, which opening singularly enough, gave entrance into a cellar below, we say the particularity with which all this irrelevent story is told is only equalled by the prolixity with which Dame Quickly recounts in the presence of the Chief Justice the scene where Falstaff swore to marry her upon a parcel gilt goblet A few lines from Quickly will show the striking similarity

"Thou didst swear to me upon a parcel gilt goblet, sitting in my dolphin chamber, at the round-table by a sea coal fire, upon Wednesday in Whitsun week when the Prince broke thy head for liking his father to a singing man of Windsor thou didst swear to me then as I was washing thy wound to marry me and make me my lady, thy wife Darst thou deny it?

What might have been the consequence to Miss Babcock and the decision as well if the opening in the pavement had not have given entrance to a cellar ' can be imagined but not expressed

The article in the Review closes with the wholesome advice to the Reporter—provided he cannot be exchanged for a better He must be more brief, more accurate more modest He must abandon the ambition of combining the style of the New York Ledger with the grave wisdom of the bench He must cease to quote poetry and pay compliments And we earnestly ask the high tribunal whose deliberations he attends to require the Reporter to perform his duties respectfully towards them and honestly towards the profession"

We add an instance of Wallaceana not noticed in the Review In Newell vs Norton and Ship a question was made as to which side of the Mississippi river a collision between to boats occurred From the fact that a portion of the cargo of the sunken vessel was found ashore at a particular place, it was argued that the collision must have happened within the range of a particular current which set to that side Our learned Reporter who has penchant for big words and unusual ones in his statement of the argument calls this a deduction of a topographical inference from a hydrographical fact Think of such a conceit in such a place

We forgot to say that in the head notes to one case he says it was 'benignantly' dismissed by the court A benignant dismissal of a suit is something in judicial proceedings, and we hope the unfortunate plaintiff was consoled in the loss of his cause by the suavity with which he was sent out of Court.

An Office seeker's Experience

An hour of dreaming joy—
A feverish hour that hastened to be done
And ended in the bitterness of woe. —Pollok.

After an arduous term of service continuing for four days, from March 1st to March 4th inclusive, Mr O Humason, Collector of Customs at the port of Astoria has given up the keys, books papers and general paraphernalia of his office and retired to the more agreeable duties of private life Of course the reason for this extraordinary action is an extraordinary one The Secretary of the Treasury forwarded the Collector's resignation to him which resignation the said Collector very promptly, properly and dutifully accepted We are therefore entitled to say that the Collector's official career was very brief, but as we have very scanty information about the leading measures and principal incidents of said career, we cannot undertake to say that it was uncommonly brilliant It appears that the Senate of the United States was the obstacle which stood between Mr Collector Humason and his permanent enjoyment of the office That body not being able to appreciate the gentleman's style of Unionism, and it may be, also unable to perceive his extraordinary fitness for the place, on the 25th of February, rejected his nomination The Secretary of the Treasury thereupon telegraphed him that he could not hold the office longer than the 4th of the present month, and instructed him to give it up to the Deputy Collector and vacate the premises This dispatch was received at Astoria on or about the 5th Mr Humason we doubt not has now an inkling of the meaning of that warning which Cæsar received "Beware the ides of March"

A dispatch has also been received by W W Parker, formerly Deputy Collector under Mr Adams, ordering him to take charge of the office, and informing him that more specific instructions are on the way But Mr Humason during his brief hour of authority had removed or assumed to remove Mr Parker from his place, and had appointed his (Humason's) brother-in law, West to be Deputy Collector Mr Humason has turned the office over to Mr West, though Mr Parker was expressly authorized to take possession How this muddle will be settled is yet to be seen In the meantime the question arises, who is responsible to the Government for the business? The opinion is very general that no one lies under any responsibility However this may be, it is certain that the whole case is just now in a very pretty muddle

Leaving this business to be settled by the Department and the parties immediately interested in it, turn we now for a moment to more melancholy considerations The Collector of four days experience went into office with a flourish of trumpets already he has bid farewell, a long farewell, to his ephemeral greatness It is peculiarly and inexpressibly sad to see those who for years had not tasted the sweets of office, admitted to this happiness for a little hour only to be cruelly and suddenly debarred from further participation Even Tantalus was not so cruelly dealt with For he was merely compelled to look on the cool, sparkling stream, not allowed to touch it with his lips only to see it snatched away Such a case as this is therefore more tantalizing than anything Tantalus suffered Were it our province to offer advice in such a season of trial as this we should simply charge the unfortunate aspirant to fling away ambition A year of strenuous effort of constant intrigue, of uninterrupted planning, scheming, plotting and self abasement, is not adequately rewarded with a tenure of office of four days duration

The following is an extract from a letter lately written by Senator Williams to a gentleman in this city

> I hope the late elections on this side will strengthen the "weak hands and feeble knees" of those who are leaning to Johnsonism Let all men understand that the loyal people of this country are as determined and invincible as they were during the war and that they will sweep the country again as now in the coming Presidential election Johnson is joined to his idols He seems to be as blind as he is obstinate but his fate is fixed and he will go into private life at the end of his term "unwept unhonored and unsung"

There are no persons in Oregon who were uncompromising Union men throughout the whole period of the great struggle who now lean toward Johnsonism All true men gave Johnson up to his idols long ago But Senator Williams words are reassuring, and the people of Oregon are glad to hear them

ANOTHER MORMON OUTRAGE.—The promised action of Congress in relation to its legislation to restrain the brutalities of the Mormons does not seem to have alarmed or terrified that people in the least The Salt Lake Vedette records another of their recent outrages as follows

> We learn that one Grow and his family were compelled by an order given by a body of men to leave town very suddenly this week It is said they were ejected from the house and scarce time given them to don their apparel They arrived at Camp Douglas in a state of half nudity with nothing on their feet but slippers where shelter was promptly afforded them As yet we have not heard the particulars or any cause assigned for this unceremonious compulsion to leave

UNION CONVENTION AT WALLA WALLA.—The following has been sent us for publication

> The Union men of Walla Walla county are requested to meet at their several precincts on Saturday the 16th day of March for the purpose of selecting Delegates to attend a County Convention to be held at the Court House in the city of Walla Walla, on Saturday March 23d 1867 at 12 o clock M The object of the Convention is to select five Delegates to represent Walla Walla county in the Territorial Union Convention to be held at Vancouver on the 16th day of April and to transact such other business as may be proper for the promotion of the Union cause
> Each precinct is entitled to the following representation Walla Walla 8 Frenchtown 3 Mill Creek 4, Wallula 2 [illegible] 3 Patha, 1 Snake River 1 Coppei 4 Touchet 3 By order of Union Central Committee

AN ACTIVE VOLCANO IN THE MOON.—A volcano in the moon is said to be in an active state. The crater called Linne on the Mare Serenitatis, was noticed by an astronomer at Athens a M. Schmidt, during the months of October and November to be obscured English photographs taken during the time show the crater very faintly marked The same darkness was observed in this spot by the eminent astronomer Schroeter in November, 1788 The London Spectator says

The impression is that an eruption is going on but if so must not the moon have an atmosphere? Could combustion take place without oxygen? Would the smoke—the carbonic acid gas—rise without some heavier gas, like atmospheric air to rise in?'

LOUIS A CARNETT

LOUIS A CARNETT............President and Manager

JOHN HEWSTON Jr ..Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion

Their charges hereafter will be as follows

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1 600 and two dollars for any smaller sum Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,600 and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum and one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold 4 cents per ounce

On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce

On bullion from 750½@949½ parts gold 8 cents per ounce

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent, and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint

Gold bars of other Assayers in good standing will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country and returns made through Wells Fargo & Co's Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300½@600 parts gold 5 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750½@830 parts gold 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830½@949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage a half of one per cent and the charge for making fine silver bars the same

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have a cost of ¼ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the returns which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

850 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

845 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

865 par to equal San Francisco A & R Works returns, at refining charge of 8 cents

PEOPLE'S TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.—This Company engaged in steamboating on the Willamette river, held a Directors' meeting at Salem last week—the principal office being located at that place. P N Cooke Esq who has so long held the position of Director and Vice President, in anticipation of leaving for Europe, was compelled to resign. The Board of course, were forced to accept it and Capt Joseph Kellogg was elected to fill the vacancy of Vice President, and Thos McF Patton that of Director. The Board is now composed of A. A. McCully President, Joseph Kellogg, Vice President Capt Geo. A Pease, L. E. Pratt, and Thos McF Patton Director. Among the many improvements the Company propose to make this year is to build a new boat for the summer trade, and low water which will have 125 feet keel and 23 feet beam. This will enlarge the number at ready in use for this particular trade. They will also commence, and probably complete this season a dry dock at Oregon City, for repairing purposes, 250 feet in length by 150 in width. This will be amply sufficient for the intended purpose. The breakwater still incomplete will be filled and stayed immediately. We are pleased to note the efforts of every person connected with this Company to please and accommodate the public. Although they are often tried upon the score of danger in the daily transaction of their business, we have yet to find the person who can positively point to a single case of injustice or wrong-doing. They are careful, accommodating and skillful in the management of their affairs.

THE STEAMSHIP IDAHO.—This new and splendid steamship which arrived here on Saturday, was visited yesterday by hundreds of people, large numbers of them, ladies who wished to see the vessel of which they had heard so much through the newspapers. Nearly all day long, there were crowds going on board, inspecting all parts of the ship, and filing off only to give place to other throngs. Through the politeness of the officers everybody was enabled to visit whatever part of the ship they desired to see. In the OREGONIAN of February 21st, was published from the San Francisco Times a very full description of her construction and appointments, and we can add nothing to improve that except to say that she is a handsomer and better finished vessel than ever that description led us to believe. It would be difficult to point out any particular in which for comfort, convenience, or safety she could be improved. The visitors of yesterday will doubtless long remember the genuine courtesy and politeness they met with at the hands of the officers. Considering the great numbers who were flocking on board, and the demands they made upon the attention of the officers, the good natured courtesy uniformly extended by the latter, was something of a marvel and, withal something to which of old, Portlanders were hardly accustomed. Those who have not the opportunity of visiting the Idaho, may get a very fair idea of her by consulting the local column of the OREGONIAN of the 21st ult.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—The following items are from the Enterprise: Mr Curley, C E, is now very busy at work at the Land Office in this city, copying maps and ...ding lists and descriptions of all the lands belonging to this State, for school and other purposes, which in a few weeks will be ready for the State Board of Managers, who will then give full information concerning that part of the State property. Mr Asa Sanders, of Molalla Prairie, in this county, slaughtered two pigs recently, which in the aggregate weighed 1,034 pounds. These pigs were between eleven and twelve months of age. One ... 551 pounds. We think it is some credit to ... to speak of these things. ...The Odd Fellows of this city have purchased a fine site on Main street and ... an association for the purpose of erecting a brick building upon the site—the lower stories for renting and the upper story for a lodge room. We presume the building will be put up during the coming season. ...We ... that Messrs Smith Bros propose soon building a new foundry and machine shop in this city. ...The Register of the Land Office at this city received by the last mail 295 patents to donation claimants—issued mainly on ... certificates Nos. 2401 to 2698 inclusive.

CLAIMS FOR LAND BOUNTIES.—Mr A Bushwiler, Claim Agent in this city, has received notice of a decision by the ... of the Pension Office in relation to what ... a valid claim to land bounty. The decision was made upon the application for a land bounty, of a soldier who served five years from November 1848. The ... did not contain any evidence that the soldier had served in any war or that he had been in any battle prior to the passage of the bounty land bill of March 3rd 1855, and the Commissioner therefore decides that he is not entitled, on the evidence of his discharge, to a bounty land warrant. The law referred to, provides generally that all soldiers mustered into the service of the United States, who had served prior to March 3rd, 1855, in any war of the United States and entitled to receive pay from the general government, shall be entitled to bounty in lands. In prosecuting such claims, therefore, it is necessary to produce evidence that the applicant has actually been mustered into the service of the United States and has served at least fourteen days in a war prior to March 3rd, 1855, and subsequent to 1790. There is no provision otherwise, for land bounties to soldiers.

FOREST GROVE AND TUALATIN ROAD CO.—The organization of this company was completed on Saturday, March 9th, by ... and filing articles of incorporation. The incorporators are Messrs Thos. R Cornelius, James Imbrie, D. M. Carter, Wm McMillen, A. H. Johnson and J. P. O. Lownsdale. The capital stock was fixed at $50,000 in shares of $100 each. The stockholders authorized Messrs Cornelius and Imbrie to open stock books at Hillsboro, and ... McMillen and Johnson, at Portland. This enterprise is one in which the people of Portland as well as those of the Plains, have an interest of too great importance to be neglected. Liberal subscriptions now will put the road toward accomplishment at a not distant day. The stock itself will doubtless be found profitable to the ... without taking into consideration the benefits to the city and county, in a general way. The company at present consists of men who have business tact and a high reputation for integrity. Our citizens cannot fail to see the need of immediate co-operation with them.

DISASTER AT CAPE GREGORY.—From a private letter from Cape Gregory, mouth of the Umpqua river, we learn that on the 19th February the schooner Ynquina, Capt. Jack, ... Crescent City, ran in under the lee of the island ... and hoisted her colors Union down. Upon being boarded from the shore, it was found that she had ... a leak and that her pumping gear was all broken ... Preparations were made at once for repairs to the pumps. During the night of the 19th it came on to blow a gale from the southwest and continued till the 21st, when the schooner parted her cables. The captain ... hoisted sail and ran her ashore about five hundred yards southeast from the island. She was loaded with flour—25 tons—dry goods and groceries, all of which was got out in a damaged condition. There were four men on board—all saved. The schooner, at the date of writing, was high and dry on the beach, but it was ... she could be got off.

OREGON MADE CARRIAGES.—Happening in at the carriage shop of W. E. Cooper & Co., on Saturday we improved the opportunity to examine their stock of carriages, buggies, express wagons etc. The work—wood, ironing and painting—is quite equal in style, finish, and strength to any of the Concord or Brewster patterns from the East. They have several of the Concord and Brewster styles of top-carriages and open buggies that are really fine specimens of elegance and finish, combined with all the needed strength. There is no sort of work of this ... but what they are doing quite as well as or better than, is done in the Eastern shops. The timber used is all Eastern, sawed, seasoned and then sent out here. There are a good many of their make of carriages in use in this State and Idaho, and the universal opinion ... of them is, that they are as durable as any made in the United States. The scale of prices notwithstanding the larger wages paid here, are not higher than those of the Eastern shops, with freight added.

FROM ASTORIA.—A gentleman from Astoria by the last steamer, furnishes the following items. Within a mile and a half of town there are droves of elk to be found almost any day, some of them numbering a hundred or more. Hunters are killing great numbers, saving only the hams which they sell at five cents per pound or less than half the price of beef. Elk were never before known to be so numerous, though they have always been quite plenty in that neighborhood. At Chinook and other points near the mouth of the river greater preparations than ever before, are being made for the catching of salmon. It is estimated that not less than 1,500 barrels were put up last year and that more than double that number will be taken during the fishing seasons of 1867.

ARRIVAL OF THE LINCOLN.—The U S Revenue Cutter Lincoln, Capt. White, arrived last evening from Puget Sound. Maj.-General Steele and Major Geo E Glenn, U S A, and Capt Howard, U S N, came up on her, having made an official visit to Olympia, Bellingham Bay, ... and San Juan Island. The weather has been very rough, which affected our land officers in the abdominal region considerably. The matter of the deserter claimed by the British authorities, who enlisted in the U S service, was amicably arranged by Gen Steele. The ... military posts visited were found to be in excellent order and condition.

EXPEDITIOUS LOADING.—The steamer Alert, on Friday brought down an immense freight of flour in quarter sacks. While taking it on, one of her deck hands, received at the end of the chute, 30 tons, picking up each sack of fifty pounds and placing it upon the trucks standing by. The time thus consumed in thus handling 30 tons of flour was only one hundred and five minutes. This is at the rate of a little over one sack for every two seconds. If there is a man anywhere who can manage more than that he can get a "position" immediately upon application at head quarters.

A CARD OF THANKS.—We, the undersigned passengers on the steamer Idaho, on her voyage from San Francisco to Portland, desire to return our sincere thanks to Captain Patten and his officers for their uniform courtesy and kindness extended to us during the voyage, and we cheerfully recommend the steamer Idaho (Capt Patten) as a commodious, comfortable and staunch vessel.

The above card is subscribed by nearly every passenger whose name appears in the list under the head of "Marine Intelligence," and sixty others of the steerage.

P... SHIPMENT.—The Ajax on Saturday, the 9th, took the following freights for San Francisco: 7,000 qr sks flour, 3,550 boxes apples, 116 hf bbls dried apples, 12 hf bbls butter, 77 pkgs eggs, 150 cases bitters, 50 green hides, 60 sks onions, 10 cases bacon, 38 pkgs mdse, ... pkgs furniture, 6 cases lard, 1 buggy, 5 200 staves.

BOOKS, BOOKS.—Mr F. Boman has opened a very pretty store at No. 125 First street for the sale of books, stationery, albums, and the various other articles belonging to that line of business. Mr B has a very good variety in his stock and we recommend our readers to give him a call.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert Saturday March 9th: 186 boxes apples, 12 bales woolen goods, 7 cases butter, 78 bales paper, 85 qr sks flour, 12 pkgs trees, 20 cases lard, 157 sks feed, 6 pkgs eggs, 110 sks oats, 1 bale wool, 1 sk beans, 14 empty casks.

RECORDER'S COURT.—On Saturday the case of John Brannan, charged with carrying a concealed weapon was taken up for re-trial. The Prosecuting Attorney entered a nolle prosequi, and the case was dismissed.

PASSED THE BOARD.—J A Waymire, lately appointed a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army and ordered to go before the Military Board of Examination at San Francisco, returned by the last steamer, having passed the Board and been mustered into the service of the United States. He is attached to Co. M of the 1st U S Cavalry, now stationed at Camp Lyon, Idaho, but is ordered to report to Gen Steele for duty. We have not learned what assignment, if any, Gen Steele has made.

FOUND.—A J Hollier the insane man for whom a reward has been advertised was discovered in a hall in this town within the last day or two and brought to this city last evening by Messrs Edward James and W C Hickling. He is now at the American Exchange.

UNDER ORDERS.—Mr W ... Spencer of this city lately appointed 1st Lieut in the U S Infantry, received orders last week to report at San Francisco to the Examining Board. He went passenger by the Ajax. His regiment is stationed in Dacotah Territory.

BENEFIT.—Theater-goers will bear in mind that this evening J H O Neil takes a benefit tendered by the Tanner Troupe. The bill is a good one.

ADJOURNMENT.—The Circuit Court on Saturday adjourned to Monday, the 29th day of April.

TOWED UP.—The schooner Growler was towed up on Saturday by the steamer Couch from below.

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The amount of treasure shipped per steamer Ajax was $44 000.

A GALA DAY.—Hundreds of people were out on the streets yesterday, dressed in their best enjoying the glorious weather. Quite a large number of gentlemen's suits attracted attention being in the height of fashion and splendid fits. They were purchased at Barman Bros., corner of Front and Morrison streets.

NEW STORE—NEW GOODS.—Mr A Bachman will open, to day a splendid stock of clothing and furnishing goods, in the store lately occupied by Barman Bros. These are all new goods and he has more coming. Go to Bachman's.

The man who said the Family Dye Colors manufactured by Howe & Stevens were the greatest discovery of the age, for domestic use, hit the nail on the head precisely. By the same line of statement, Messrs Howe & Stevens are among the greatest benefactors of the day. The great public evidently believe in the colors, for they are to be found in about every well regulated household in the country. Sold by Smith & Davis.

Are you aware that the premonitories of Consumption are Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pains in the side and chest, difficulties of breathing, &c. If you permit these symptoms to run on tubercles will be the result and end in Consumption. Now if you want to cure these diseases use ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM without delay. Consumptives should never give up and think there is no hope until you have tried ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM. It has cured many cases that physicians pronounced incurable. Sold by the dealers in family medicine generally. f16d1m

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is really a valuable medicament, and unlike most of the patented articles of the day, is used by many physicians. It is particularly desirable in locations where physicians are not near, and in families will often save the necessity of sending out at midnight for a doctor. A bottle should be kept in every house.—Boston Traveler. fe18dawim

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 635 AND 641 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior products for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraudulent deceiver only after a trial but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Mrs. Katherine's Lantern.

[WRITTEN IN A LADY'S ALBUM BY W. M. THACKERAY.]

"Coming from a gloomy court,
Place of Israelite resort,
This old lamp I've brought with me
Madam, on its panes you'll see
The initials K and E."

"An old lantern brought to me!
Ugly, dingy, battered black!"
(Here a lady, I suppose,
Turning up a pretty nose)—
"Pray, sir, take the old thing back,
I've no taste for bric-a-brac."

"Please to mark the letters twain"—
(I'm supposed to speak again)—
"Graven on the lantern pane,
Can you tell me who was she,
Mistress of the flowry wreath,
And the anagram beneath—
The mysterious K. E?

Full a hundred years are gone
Since the little beacon shone
From a Venice balcony:
There, on Summer nights, it hung,
And her lovers came and sung
To their beautiful K. E.

Hush! in the canal below
Don't you hear the splash of oars
Underneath the lantern's glow,
And a thrilling voice begins
To the sound of Mandoline!—
Begins singing of amore
And delire and dolore—
O the ravishing tenore!

Lady, do you know the tune?
Ah, we all of us have hummed it!
I've an old guitar has thrummed it,
Under many a changing moon:
Shall I try it? DO RE MI.
What is this? Ma foi, the fact is
That my hand is out of practice,
And my poor old fiddle cracked is,
And a man—I let the truth out—
Who's had almost every tooth out,
Cannot sing as once he sung,
When he was young as you are young,
When he was young and lutes were strung,
And love lamps in the casement hung."

Fortune-Teller.

Milly Danton had received a note—one of those little perfumed billet-doux which are so often used in Cupid's postoffice, and which contained an offer of marriage, to which Milly scarcely knew whether to answer "yes" or "no." She had stolen away from the sitting-room where the village tailoress, Aunt Hannah Crampton, was making up the boys' jackets for the Winter, and her sister Fanny was dressing a doll, and her mother discoursing church affairs with Deacon Peter Perkins, who had just dropped in; and was trying to think "Mr. Hazledean was handsome—was accomplished—adored her," so he said, and was her beau ideal of manly elegance. Yet there was poor Harry Lawton, the young doctor who had loved her, she knew, so long. Conscience smote her sorely. "I have encouraged him," she said. "I do love him, but he is so poor and so common-place, and not at all handsome, with his red hair, I'm sure; and Mr. Hazledean is like some poet's hero, and so rich. I must like him best, I'm sure. Yet, poor Harry." And she put her head down upon her little hand, and found herself crying. "And why, I can't think," she said to herself, "for I'm sure I don't love Harry, and I think I must return Mr. Hazledean's sentiments. And Harry and I would have to wait years and years—and—"

"Sis, Harry is down stairs," said Fanny's voice. "And he's come to take us all over to Lot's barn, where there's a fortune-teller, who can tell you who you are to marry, and oh I do come."

And Milly dried her eyes and went down stairs, glad to delay her decision and glad to see Harry, who (though she could not marry him) was so good and kind, and such a dear fellow.

They were discussing the fortune-teller below stairs; all but Mrs. Dalton, who was absent "on hospitable thoughts intent," and might have been heard frying flapjacks in the kitchen.

"Does she tell true?" asked Hannah Crampton.

"They say so," said Harry Lawton. "Marvelous stories are in circulation."

"I wonder what she'll tell me," said little Fanny.

"I know," said Miss Milly, joining in the conversation as she appeared.

"What, may I ask, Miss Milly?" said Harry.

"That I should marry a rich man and ride in my carriage," said Milly. "Whoever went to a fortune-teller to hear of being an old maid or poor?" said Milly.

"In that case we'd better all go short metre," said Hannah.

"Are you anxious to be married, Aunt Hannah?" laughed Milly.

"Appearances are that I han't," said Hannah, "but if I was to meet a man that wasn't too sassy, and didn't need too much mendin', I han't sure I shouldn't settle yet. Tailorin' is independent, but not clear perfection." And Hannah stitched away at the jacket she was making for Milly's little brother Sam.

"Suppose we try whether the sorceress in Lot's barn can point you out a gentleman with the desired qualifications, Miss Hannah," said Hal Lawton. "What are they? Not too sassy and not given to tearing his linen and broadcloth?"

"Besides bein' a good provider and a professor," said Miss Crampton. "Yes."

"I ain't sure it's not sinful," said Mr. Perkins, who somehow had a habit of dropping in wherever Miss Crampton was engaged for a week. "But maybe as a mere jest, a pastime—ahem! I'll go of you go, Miss Hannah."

"I want to go awfully," said little Fanny.

"May I offer you my arm?" asked Hal Lawton of Milly.

"Is she worth looking at?" asked Milly. "Elfish and romantic and oddly dressed?"

"She is, indeed," said Hal, "and they say she——"

"Nonsense!" said Milly. "As if the rubbish a tipsy old creature like that may choose to utter, could have anything to do with one's future. I'll go; but for mercy's sake don't imagine I believe in fortune-telling."

"I'll imagine nothing you forbid," said Hal; "only you must allow me to be superstitious, and believe everything the old woman tells me implicitly. Miss Hannah, you are ready?"

"Bein' its six I am," said Hannah. "Law, now, I wonder what she will say. I was told once I'd be married to a man that worked with sharp tools. That might be anybody almost that worked at anything."

"I should say it pinted to the hard ware trade," said the deacon, confidentially.

To which Hannah only replied:

"Yeou get eout."

It was only a short distance across the fields to Lot's barn; and once across the fence it was easy to see somebody in a plaid cloak, smoking a pipe at the doorway. An odd looking creature enough to satisfy Milly, certainly; and whatever, might have been her predictions they had evidently deeply impressed the two red-cheeked damsels who were hurrying away from the barn, giggling spasmodically.

Little Fanny started and retreated behind her sister. Hannah Crampton laughed. Milly maintained perfect silence, and slightly shrugged her shoulders; and the fortune-teller nodded and smoked; and smoked and nodded solemnly.

"More of 'em," she said, between her teeth. "I knew they'd come—I knew it; I saw them coming; I saw them long before they came. But I shan't tell a word until my palm is covered with silver—not a word."

"Nobody asked ye to," said Hannah. "Come, now, what's your tax for lyin'?"

The gipsy turned from her in disdain.

"One at a time," she said, and entered the barn. "One at a time, or the spell is broken."

"Who first?" asked Hal.

And Hannah answered:

"Age before beauty?" and she stalked into the barn.

She returned with a very red face, and refused to make any explanation of her confusion. Peter Perkins went next, and returned looking very happy, declaring that he should believe in fortune-tellers until his death. And Milly was persuaded to be the next to interrogate the soothsayer.

"I'll tell you every word," she said, looking over her shoulder as she passed in, "all about the the rich husband and the coach, and all."

And she entered the barn. The fortune-teller sat on a bundle of straw in the corner.

She pointed Milly to the seat beside her as she entered, and took her hand in hers, in a business-like way that brought a smile to Milly's lips. The old woman saw it, and shook her head again.

"Ah, you're laughing, are you," she said; "because you've read more books than the rest of them you think no one can read the stars better than you can yourself."

Milly turned a shade paler.

"What do you know of my reading? How do you know I can read at all?"

"I know more than that," said the woman. "I know about the black-haired one and the light-haired one. You like the dark one best."

Milly blushed.

"You're a fool for your pains," said the woman. "He's a bad man."

"Bad!" ejaculated Milly, betraying herself.—"What do you know about him?"

"I know nothing but the stars tell me much," said the old woman, "But you'll never marry him; the other loves you too well."

"What other?" asked Milly.

"The light one. Wait, he has red hair," said the woman. "He's a professional man—a lawyer; no—no I see, a doctor. He's loved you a long while."

"And the other?" asked Milly.

"He's a stranger, and he loves you but very little," said the woman. "How does the butterfly love the flower? Come a prettier girl, he'll fly from you, my lass. The light one is constant as the day. One, two, three, four, five years.—You've known him five years. He's loved you all the time."

Milly cast her eyes down. The gipsy had hit the truth. Harry had loved her all this time, ever since she had been a school-girl, and he little more than a school-boy. She hesitated, looked at the woman with some awe in her face, and asked in a whisper:

"Are both rich? Is either poor?"

"The dark one is rich and handsome—the light, poor and plain," said the gipsy.

"And you'd have me marry a poor plain man?"

"Yes," said the gipsy, solemnly. "Riches will come, and love makes its own beauty. Your fate is kind to you—accept it. You must at last.—Don't think of the man whose letter is in your bosom."

Milly gave a little scream.

"How can you see it?" she asked.

"I don't see it. The stars see for me," said the woman, so solemnly that Milly shuddered. "The stars see that you'll be happy with the little fair man, and wretched with the tall, dark one," said the fortune-teller. "Accept your happy fate. He'll ask you Sunday. Say yes. Now go."

And Milly went. But she was not communicative, as she had promised to be, but shy and distrait, and full of weighty thought. Harry was silent also, and never had Mrs. Danton entertained so quiet a party as that which sat about her board that evening.

Indeed, there was not much to wonder at in that, for on the way home Deacon Perkins had proposed to the tailoress, and been accepted, and Milly, with one offer in her bosom and another promised for Sunday, was naturally in no talkative mood.

"I'll wait until Sunday," she said to herself, "and then, if the gipsy's prophesy is true, Harry will ask me to be his wife; if not, I shall know it is all humbug, and accept Mr. Hazledean."

And she counted the days until the Sabbath came.

"All nonsense," she said again, as she looked out upon the dawn. "Harry will never think of asking me to-day, and I shall write 'yes' to Mr. Hazledean."

And so she went to church and tried to think of the service, and thought only of the letter in her bosom and of the gipsy's promise.

So that when going home, Harry Lawton actually met her and actually verified the prophesy by the sudden offer of his hand and heart, Milly Danton looked at him, trembled, turned pale, whispered, "It is fate, I do believe," and let him kiss her.

They were married within the year, and the young doctor's practice grew large, and his income larger, and prosperity attended them, and very few, if any, ever guessed why such a sensible woman as Mrs. Lawton should believe in fortune-telling, as she assuredly did. So that when one day, when children were about her knee, and she had grown quite matronly and plump, there came to her city door an old woman in cloak and hood, who offered to tell her servant's fortune, she looked at the matter in quite a serious light, and listened gravely to the rigmarole of promises with which the gipsy filled the girl's willing ear, until her husband, searching for her, found her in the kitchen with her plump hands folded at her belt, and her blue eyes wide open, believing every word the gipsy uttered as implicitly as the little servant herself.

At the sight, the doctor burst into a laugh, and the gipsy, turning, saw him and laughed also.

"Good day, sir," she said; "do you remember me? I know you at once, but not the lady; now I know her. Ah, that was a pretty trick we played her; though she's not sorry for it now, I'm sure. I can read the stars for all that, but I told her just what you bade me about the dark man and his letter. And no doubt you asked her on Sunday. How it all comes back! Another shilling, sir, for old time's sake."

And Milly knew the old woman who had told her fortune in Lot's barn, and began to fathom a mystery.

"Deceiver," she said, with her hand on Harry's shoulder—"confess, or I never will forgive you. You had seen her before—you prompted her. You met me purposely on Sunday. But the letter—how did you guess that?"

Harry put his arm about his wife's waist.

"Forgiveness first," he said. "Ah, I have it. Well, then, Milly, I saw Hazledean post the letter, and I knew you were taken with him. I knew too, that I loved you better than he, and that with all his wealth and good looks, he was half a rascal; so I paid the old woman a dollar to repeat what I taught her; and I'm not sure but I have myself to thank for winning you, Milly."

Milly was sure, and had long been too happy to feel angry with him; but her belief in fortune-telling vanished from that day, and no one was ever louder in denunciations of all soothsayers as impostors, than Mrs. Lawton.

NEW ORLEANS ITEMS.—A New Orleans dispatch of January 31st furnishes the following items:

It is understood among the friends of Governor Wells that if the Legislature passes the bill for a new Constitution over his veto, the Governor will issue a proclamation declaring the Convention of 1864 legal, and re-assembling it.

The Radicals are organizing the Grand Army of the Republic all over the State, and another conflict between the Radicals and ex-Confederates is not at all improbable. Political excitement runs high; so much so that business circles are affected.

The act passed by the Legislature of 1864 levying a tax of one-quarter per cent. on the gross sales and receipts has been declared by Judge Duplentier, of the Sixth District Court, as unconstitutional, as it levies on imports and exports, and thus comes in conflict with the provision in the Constitution. This decision gives great satisfaction in New Orleans.

IMPORTANT ACTION IN THE TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.—A Nashville, Tenn., dispatch of Jan. 29th to the Chicago Tribune, says: "To-day was an interesting one in the Legislature of Tennessee. The Senate passed a resolution, offered by Mr. Barron, to employ two or more men learned in law to appear before the Supreme Court of the State, to argue in behalf of the State the cases now pending before the Court, and which are bound to test the constitutionality of the Tennessee franchise. Only four members—Corrigan, Frazier, Dawson, and Thompson—voted no. The house adopted the report of the Select Committee to whom the charges against Judge Frazier had been referred last session. The report favored his impeachment, and was accompanied by the articles. Vote—43 in favor of adoption to 22 against. This case is likely to be one of the most interesting ever tried in this country, and its result will be a deadly blow at the reaction which had taken refuge in a portion of the judiciary of Tennessee, as well as in the Supreme Court of the United States.

THE NEW ORLEANS MASSACRE.—On the 29th of January the President, in compliance with the resolution of the House, transmitted voluminous documents on the subject of the New Orleans riots in July last. These include four hundred foolscap pages of testimony taken before the Military Board convened by General Baird, and consisting of Generals Mower, Quincy, Gregg and Baldy, together with their report, in which they condemn the conduct of Mayor Monroe, and say but for the declaration of martial law by General Baird, and the presence of the troops, fire and bloodshed would have raged through the night in all the negro quarters in the city, and the lives and property of Unionists and Northern men would have been at the mercy of the mob, the conservators of peace being, for the time, the instigators of violence, and nothing would have remained but arming for defence, and a scene might have ensued unparalleled in the history of the age.

VALUE OF ANTS.—It has often been asked what ants are chiefly good for, especially the termites, which are the terror of the inhabitants of tropical countries. The Cosmos answers the the question by stating, on the strength of the testimony of a traveler recently returned from Western Africa, that the equatorial regions would be uninhabitable were it not for the ants that are constantly engaged in clearing away all putrescible matter. Their number is incalculable, and their voracity astonishing. The hives they build themselves in Liberia are, in an architectural point of view, far superior in appearance to the huts of the negroes; they are in the shape of pyramids, sometimes thirty feet high, and upwards of ten feet in diameter.

In looking over the State of Virginia for a good man to run for Governor, the Democrats have cast their eyes on the late General Jubal Early; but whether he will run well if Sheridan is not after him, is an experiment.

Diogenes being asked why it was that philosophers sought the society of the rich much more than the latter sought theirs, replied: "Because philosophers know what they want, and the others do not."

Miss Emily V. Mason adds a new compilation to Southern war poetry. It is inscribed to the Southern soldiers, and the profits are designed to aid indigent females of the South to fit themselves for teachers.

A Maine letter to the Boston Herald contained a notice of the presence of Ex-Vice President Hamlin at a "saloon dance." The Bangor Whig says "for saloon dance read saloon dinner."

The Day After a Marriage.

The following, both in sentiment and fact, will find a ready echo in the hearts of most parents. It is from the Wide World:

The departure of a son from beneath the parental roof does not present any spectacle of desolation. Masculine life has from infancy an individuality, an independence; an exotism, so to say, which is essentially wanting to female existence. When a son abandons his parents to create for himself a separate interest, this separation causes but little interruption in their mutual relations. A man marries and still retains his friendships, his habits and his filial affections. Nothing is changed in life; it is only an additional tie. His departure is a mere simple separation; while the departure of a young girl, to become the wife in a few hours is a real desertion—a desertion with all its duties and feelings fresh about it. In one word, the son is a sapling which has always grown apart from the trunk, while the daughter has, on the contrary, formed an essential portion of it, and to detach her from her place is to mutilate the tree itself.

You have surrounded her youth with unspeakable tenderness—the exhaustless tenderness of your maternal hearts; and she in return, has appeared to pour forth upon you both an equally inexhaustible gratitude; you loved her beyond all the world, and she seemed to cling to you with a proportionable affection. But one day, an ill-omened day, a man arrives, invited and welcomed by yourselves; and this man of your own choice carries off to his domestic eirie your gentle dove, far from the soft nest which your love had made for her. On the morrow you look around you, you listen, you wait, you seek for something which you cannot find. The cage is empty; the tuneful linnet has flown; silence has succeeded to its melodious warblings; it does not come, as it did only on the previous morning, fluttering its perfumed wings about your pillow, and awakening you by its soft caresses. Nothing remains but a painful calm, a painful silence, a painful void. The chamber of the absent darling offers only that disorder which is so melancholy for a mother to contemplate; not the joyous and impatient disorder of occupation, but of abandonment.

Maidenly garments scattered here and there; girlish fancies no longer prized; chairs heaped with half-worn dresses; drawers left partially open and ransacked to their remotest corners; a bed in which no one has slept; a crowd of charming trifles, which the young girl loved, but which the young wife despises, and which are littered over the carpet, like feathers dropped by the linnet when the hawk made the timid bird its prey. Such is the depressing sight which wrings tears from the mother's heart. Nor is this all; from this day she occupies only the second place in the affections of her departed idol; and even that merely until the happiness of maternity shall have taught her for whom she weeps to assign to her one still lower. This man, this stranger, unknown a few months, it may be but a few weeks previously, has assumed a right over those affections which were almost entirely her own; a few hours of fleeting and it may even be of assumed tenderness, have in a great degree sufficed to efface twenty long years of watchfulness, of care, of self-abnegation, and they have not only rent away her right to be the first and best beloved, and they have also deprived her of the filial caresses, the gentle attentions, and the adored presence of the heart's idol, whom she has herself given to him for life. Nothing is left to the mother but the attachment of respect. If she loves him she leaves her home without regret, to follow his fortunes to the end of the world; if she does not love him, she will perform the same duty with resignation. Nature and law alike impose the obligation on her, and her own heart must decide whether it will constitute her joy or her trial, but in either case the result to the mother is the same. Nor can that mother reproach her with this painful preference, for she has reared her in the conviction of the necessity of marriage; she has herself offered to her its example in her own person; heaven itself has pointed it out as a duty, whose omission is culpable; and, therefore, far from venturing to wish that the lost one should restore to her all the tenderness which time and habit may enable her to withdraw from her husband, the mother is bound, on the contrary, to pray that they may every day become dearer to each other, and that by each other, even at the expense of her own happiness. This misfortune is the mother's last blessing.

TELEGRAPH TO THE SUN.—The waves of sound go only 377 yards in a second, while the earth itself goes eighteen and one-third miles and light ten thousand times faster than that; while electricity (which again is probably another kind of vibration of the solid atoms of bodies, and certainly not a fluid) runs along a wire about half as fast as light. So, if the earth were a cannon-ball, shot at the sun from its present distance, with the velocity it now travels, and the moment of explosion telegraphed to the sun, they would get the telegram there in about five minutes, and would have nearly two months to prepare for the blow, which they would receive about fifteen years before they heard the original explosion. This merely taking the sun as a target to be shot at, without regard to his power of attracting the earth at the rate of 390 miles a second.—Denison's Astronomy without Mathematics.

Dr. P—— sometimes drank a good deal at dinner. He was summoned one evening to see a lady patient, when he was more than "half seas over," and conscious that he was so. On feeling her pulse, and finding himself unable to count its beats, he muttered, "Drunk, by Jove!" Next morning, recollecting the circumstances, he was greatly vexed, and just as he was thinking what explanation he should make to the lady, a letter was put into his hand. "She too well knew," said the letter, "that he had discovered the unfortunate condition in which she was when he visited her, and she entreated him to keep the matter secret, in consideration of the inclosed"—a $100 bill.

LIBERTY OF THE PRESS IN FRANCE.—In a late number, the Augsburg Gazette has a long editorial in which it complains bitterly of the arbitrary interference with its circulation by the Government officials in France. It says that, of its thirty issues per month, hardly ever more than six or seven reach the subscribers, the rest are confiscated in the Press Bureau attached to the post office. The moderate and respectful tone in which that journal is written, and to which its strains to confine all its correspondents, except the one from New York, who uses not only passionate, but even extremely violent language, should have secured for it a better fate.

Patents for Inventions.

Business with the United States Patent Office, such as filing Caveats, and procuring Letters Patent, will be prosecuted with strict care and attention. All business of this character will be strictly confidential.

General Land Office—Patents for Lands.

Will attend to procuring Patents for United States Lands, located by Land Warrants or purchased with cash. All business connected with the General Land Office, such as collecting money for lands erroneously entered with cash, or return of the Land Warrants erroneously located; the settlement of cases under the Pre-emption Laws, and examining titles, will receive prompt attention.

Bounty Land Warrants.

Will procure Bounty Land Warrants (160 acres) for each of the surviving Officers, Chaplains, Soldiers, Seamen, Marines, Clerks, and Landsmen in the Navy—Wagon Masters and Teamsters, who served in any of the wars in which the United States has been engaged since 1790 to 1861. In case of the death of any of the above, the widow or minor children are entitled.

Bounty and Arrears of Pay.

Will procure arrears of Pay due Officers, and Bounty and arrears of Pay due Soldiers, Seamen and Marines. If any of the above have died, the amount due is payable to the Widow, Children, Father and Mother, and Brother and Sister, in their turn.

Pensions.

Will procure Pensions for Officers of the Army and Navy, Soldiers, Seamen and Marines, who have been disabled by wounds received, or who contracted a disease while in the line of duty; and if any of the above were killed in battle or have died from said causes, the following are entitled to them in their order, viz: Widow, Children (under 16 years of age), Father and Mother and Sisters, if dependent upon their deceased son or brother for support, either in whole or in part.

The Pension Laws apply to all wars in which the United States have been engaged.

All communications asking advice or information should enclose postage, or whenever of a character requiring it, should be accompanied with a reasonable fee.

DR. HENLEY'S
Fountain of Life!
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARRIVE when a new direction is imparted to its course. These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science. The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy, now offered to the public, in connection with the theory on which it is based, is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts; it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance.

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world. No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health. It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting.

☞ Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured.

FOR REFERENCE:

I would refer you to L. L. Peck, of Portland, Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.
DR. WM. HENLEY,

DR. G. W. BROWN

HAS located in Portland, in CARTER'S NEW BUILDING, for the permanent cure of all private diseases, such as syphilis, gonorrhea, gleet, strictures &c. He also calls the attention of those suffering with

to call at his office and be at once restored. Surgical operations SKILLFULLY performed on the EYES for film, cataract, strabismus or cross eyes.

Below are some of the many testimonials:

This is to certify that I, John B. Jodwan, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and and many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr. G. W. Brown, and stated my case to him, and misfortune, he at once commenced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and commend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr. G. W. Brown. The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured.
J. B. JODWAN.

STATE OF OREGON, Marion County, ss.—Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of November, 1866.

SATURDAY, Feb. 10, 1866.

This is to certify that my daughter was almost blind for over seven years, and was doctored by other physicians without obtaining any relief, when finally I took her to Dr. G. W. Brown, who examined her case, and at once began to give her treatment, and her sight has been entirely restored. I do this to let those who are suffering with diseases of the eyes know where they can obtain a cure. It has been three years since her eyes were cured; and they are yet sound.
THOMAS LIVINGSTON,
Deer Creek Precinct, Douglas county, Oregon.

SALEM, July 21, 1866.

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months, and almost blind for one year and a half; I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit; I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr. G. W. Brown, now of Salem. I was induced to try him; he performed a surgical operation on my eyes, and gave me treatment. I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief. It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good. I can see to read the finest print without difficulty, and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain.

AT THE
Bennett House,
SALEM, OREGON.
L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast. He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem, and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords.

His Bar-room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort.

In short, he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE. And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,
